MARSHALL COUNTY DEFENDANTS PAY FOR THEIR RAID

It is Believed the Birmingham Cases Will Not Go to Trial Next Week.

Bandana Bank Robbery Case Called at Wickliffe.

GRAND JURY CONVENES HERE.

Practically all the Marshall county defendants in the night rider cases in federal court, growing out of the Birmingham raid, have been settled with the plaintiffs and will be dismissed, while it is practically assured that the Lyon county defendants will settle Monday, when they arrive here. Rumors have been sent out to call them to Paducah. They had made arrangements to settle when the Marshall county men backed down. Deputy United States Marshal Neel has served all the papers in the case, so they are ready to go to trial.

He has also served the papers in the other cases, and indications now are that most of them will be settled out of court.

Bandana Bank Robbery.

Circuit court will convene at Wickliffe next Monday and the trials of Will Husbands, Ernest Elmsdorf, John Hulger and Sam White, charged with the robbery of the Ballard County bank at Bandana, will be on the docket. It is believed that the cases will go to trial this term, as both the prosecution and defense have said they were ready for trial, and were anxious to get the cases off the docket. All of the defendants are out on bond. Chief of Police Collins, Detective T. J. Moore, Patrolman Baker, Sheriff Oakley and a number of witnesses from Paducah will appear before the court.

Two Courts Here.

Monday will be a busy day for the attorneys and civil authorities, as federal court will be convened by Judge Walter Evans, while at the same time Judge William Reed will empanel the grand jury and begin the session of the April term of circuit court. After the grand jury is empaneled the work will run a little slack at the circuit court, as many of the lawyers will have to attend federal court and Judge Reed usually adjourns court until after the federal session.

In addition to the two courts in Paducah circuit court will begin at Wickliffe and a number of officials and lawyers will have to be present at the Ballard county circuit court.

Henry Diehl Ill

Mr. Henry Diehl, 312 South Third street, the veteran shoe dealer, is critically ill at his home of kidney trouble. Mr. Diehl has been in a serious condition since Monday, but his illness has been critical only since yesterday. His physicians state there is little hope of his recovery.

Scorcher Submits

Mr. Sam Foreman, who was arrested for "searching" with his automobile on South Third street, submitted to a fine of $5 this morning. A warrant was out for Leo Keller, supposed to be in the machine with Mr. Foreman, but the officers made a mistake, as Mr. Keller was not in the city at the time. The warrant will be dismissed.

McKinley in Rece.

"Flower Fantasia," a three act play which was written by Misses Blanche Mooney and Emma Mayer, teachers at the McKinley building, will be presented at the McKinley school next Friday and Saturday afternoon by the children. The story of the play is that of a little girl who goes to Flowerland in her dreams, and a splendid opportunity is afforded for songs, drills and marches by the children, who represent different species of flowers.

All of the teachers are assisting in the preparation of the play. The proceeds from the play will be used to decorate the grounds of the building in the contest. Miss Emma Morgan, who is principal of the building, dismissed the school yesterday when all of the schools were closed, but owing to the distance to the rink, where the rally was held the children devoted the time to arranging flower beds and sowing seeds. The play Friday afternoon will be for the parents, while Saturday the play will be a matinee for the children. The school will try with every endeavor to secure the flag, which is offered to the school with the prettiest yard.

Thousands Reported Murdered by Fanatics at Adana and Mersina in Asia Minor and Massacre Spreading

It is Officially Reported That Two New Cabinet Officers Were Assassinated—Young Turks Advance on Capital.

Constantinople, April 17.—British consul at Adana and Major Doughty Wylie, British vice consul at Mersina, were wounded in the rioting, which raged in this section of Asia Minor the last 48 hours, according to a report that just reached here. Gen. Izett Faud, assistant minister of war under the new bureau, and Edem Pasha were murdered last night. The news of the crime was not made public until today.

Latest reports say 2,500 people were slain in Adana and Mersina and the massacre of Christians is spreading to other towns. It is likely to sweep over Asia Minor. A large part of Adana is burned and Mohammedan fanatics are applying the torch to other towns. Several English and German and American residents of Adana are reported killed and wounded. Definite information is unobtainable. The report that two American missionaries were killed lacks official confirmation.

The sultan is greatly disturbed over reports from Adana and Mersina. He fears the slaughter of Christians will cause the powers to interfere. He ordered all available troops to rush to the scene and stop rioting. European Asia Minor is clamoring for the foreign powers to hasten warships.

Young Turks Advance.

Vienna, April 17.—The Young Turks' forces, principally members of the second army corps, today are reported converging at Tchataldje, 18 miles north of Constantinople. Transportation of troops from the Salonica district is slow, owing to inadequate facilities, but the leaders declare they will ultimately have 200,000 men ready for the attack. It is rumored here that Bulgarian troops have already crossed the frontier in readiness to seize Macedonia.

CROSSED EYED EXCUSE FAILED.

Pardon Refused Man Who Looked One Way and Shot Another.

Louisville, Ky., April 17.—Governor Willson has refused a pardon to George Kellum, who shot and killed Will Reed, and who claimed, because of the fact that he is cross-eyed, he is unable to distinguish a man more than a few feet away, and was really shooting at another man, who had struck him over the head, when Reed was accidentally killed. Gov. Willson held that a man who is so cross-eyed as to be unable to distinguish at whom he is shooting, should not shoot at all.

LABOR UNUSUALLY WELL EMPLOYED IN PADUCAH—ALL LINES ARE IMPROVING

The best bit of news in the business world this week was the announcement of the formation of an organization to take up the work of the Commercial club. There is no disputing the absolute necessity of such an organization in every town, and the fact that the proposed one will be formulated on plans that assure its permanency. The club will have a membership of fifty, and the members agreed to stay with the club for five years, paying fifty dollars a year in semi-annual payments. This well insure a fund sufficient to meet the demands of the organization. There has been no limitation, as to who the officers of the club will be, as this feature will come up at a later meeting.

Local wholesalers report good conditions with their trade. Collections are better, and the mild weather of the past few weeks has aided distribution of spring and early summer goods. Most of the local plants are running on full time, with bookings of orders that insure steady work. Unmistakably, there is an improvement in all lines of business, the iron people note it, the railroads see it in increased traffic, and while the local shops have cut off some more men that must be credited to the fact that it is only a few weeks now until the end of the fiscal year of the Illinois Central, and the management is reducing expenses everywhere they can possibly do so, with the expressed intention of making a record for economy.

As one prominent tie man said this week, in a few months every road in the country will be frantic after ties and supplies, for they have

MORSE—REMORSE.

New York, April 17.—Many different rumors today center about Charles Morse, whose hearing on supplementary proceedings against him were suddenly postponed yesterday. One given serious consideration today is that he has cleaned up a large amount on Wall street and is ready to settle the case.

IN ST. LOUIS

POLICE BELIEVE JAMES CABBANE IS HELD.

Think Report That He Was Taken to Illinois Central Train Was Just a Ruse.

St. Louis, April 17.—James Shepard Cabbane, who was kidnapped while playing near his grandmother's home at 5365 Cabbane avenue, is being sought by the police of St. Louis. Mrs. Julia Chenle Cabbane, the boy's grandmother, and the police believe that the boy is in his mother's possession and that no harm will be done him. If he is found with his mother the police will make no effort to have him taken from her.

It is believed that the boy's mother is in St. Louis, and that the boy is with her. Mr. Clifton said last night that he did not believe that the boy and his abductors had left the city. The police are inclined to believe that the information given Mrs. Cabbane over the telephone by the man who called her was given to mislead them.

The boy's father, who travels for a St. Louis concern, is now in Memphis, Tenn., according to Mr. Clifton, and Mr. Clifton last night wrote to him of his son's disappearance.

I. C. Bridge Burns

Passenger train, 822, from Cairo, was delayed this morning by the burning of a small bridge on the Cairo line at Futrell, three miles west of Paducah. It is supposed the bridge caught fire from a passing locomotive. The fire was discovered this morning at 6 o'clock, and the Cairo passenger train was derailed by way of Fulton. Work of replacing the bridge began early, and the Hopkinsville-Cairo train went over the Cairo branch, although it was delayed several hours until the bridge was completed.

SPECIFICATIONS NOT CONSIDERED BY FISCAL COURT

Bidders Must Go It Blind on the Kind of Bridge County Wants.

Blue Print of One Bidder is Adopted.

ONE CONTRACTOR WITHDRAWS

Without a single specification and no plans, excepting a blue print furnished by former Road Supervisor Bert Johnson, now one of the bidders, the fiscal court has invited bids for the construction of a concrete bridge over Clark's river, giving the bidders twelve days in which to visit the site, take measurements and prepare specifications, as best they can with the meager blue print, and furnish their bids, not knowing whether the material they suggest and the manner of construction will be satisfactory to the fiscal court. It is said by engineers that specifications for a bridge will fill a good sized book and detail plans must be drawn to show the character of the structure. The water is said to be too high now to afford a chance to take measurements and soundings, and some engineers declare the time is too short in which to prepare the bids, with specifications and drawings, if the work could start at once and be carried on without interruption.

Eight bids for the construction of concrete bridges over Clark's river and Perkiu's creek were in the possession of County Road Supervisor John Thompson when fiscal court met this morning in special session for the purpose of awarding the contract. Each contractor furnished his own plans and own specifications, but the bids were not opened and a blue print made by Bert Johnson, formerly county road supervisor, and one of the bidders, of the proposed Clark's river bridge was adopted by the fiscal court. No specifications are mentioned with the blue print, more than that the length of the bridge, the height and elevation figures are on the blue print.

The action of the court in adopting the blue print of Mr. Johnson, led to Mr. James Caldwell, of the Caldwell Concrete company, withdrawing.

The members voted to postpone the opening of bids until the next regular meeting, which will be May 4. The county has no plan of the bridge and County Judge Lightfoot proposed that Mr. Johnson allow the county to use his plans. Mr. Johnson drew forth a blue print of the bridge and on motion of Magistrate C. W. Emery it was adopted.

Neither the plan of the Caldwell Concrete company, nor of any other bidders, were considered. Mr. Caldwell withdrew his plans.

The postponement will give bidders a chance to bid on the bridge, according to the blue print, but it was stated by an engineer that the time was so short that it would be impossible to get bids from local bidders, much less from foreign bidders. At the present stage of the water it is quite impossible to get sufficient data for a bridge.

Steel Equipment.

The bids of the Van Horn Iron Works and the Art Metal company for the equipping of the circuit clerk's office with steel files were opened, but the placing of the contract was left with the special committee, consisting of Magistrates Emery, Broadfoot and Gholsen. The Art Metal company bid $1,106 on the complete job, while the bid of the competitor was $1,085. The plans of the two firms were different and it was left with the committee to decide which was the cheaper bid.

To Protest Raise.

The ten per cent increase on real estate in McCracken county by the state board of equalization was reported, and County Judge Lightfoot appointed F. M. Fisher, County Assessor Troutman and Richard Davis to go to Frankfort and protest against the increase. County Judge Lightfoot himself will attend.

In a few months County Judge Lightfoot will retire from office, and the court appointed Magistrate Burnett to secure an accountant to co-operate in checking up the office, preparatory to turning it over to his successor.

A bid of Sheriff John Ogilvie for $441.55 was allowed by the court. The bid originated as the result of an error in making the settlement with the county.

School Money Comes. City Treasurer G. W. Walters received a check for $3,670.68 for the city school from State Treasurer Farley today.

Two Posses Close in on Boat Where James Estes' Son is Supposed to be Held Prisoner by Shantyboatmen

Taft's Trip.

Washington, April 17.—President Taft requested all prominent railroad officials to make an estimate of the cost of the western trip he expects to make this summer. He plans to start on a swing around the circle about August 12, although the estimate is incomplete, the tour will cost close to $17,000. If he goes to the coast he will visit Alaska, the president announced today.

Metropolis, Ill., April 17. (Special)—G. E. Barkley and Hattie Rudolph, of Paducah, were married here this morning by Magistrate Liggett.

Foul Battle Fought Out.

Whitesburg, Ky., April 17.—In a quarrel near Hindman, between members of the Hays-Thacker feud factions, Alex Thacker was shot and fatally injured and another man seriously wounded. Thomas Hays and other members of that faction have been arrested, while members of the Thacker faction are resisting. Further trouble is feared.

Forest Fires

Dallas, Texas, April 17.—About $100,000,000 worth of property was destroyed by fire at Palo Pinto and adjoining counties yesterday and today. It started in the cedar brakes in the Palo Pinto mountains. More than 20 farm houses were destroyed. People are fleeing for their lives.

Tramps' Crime

St. Louis, April 17.—Posses are searching the woods and fields in the vicinity of Moelle, Franklin county, Mo., in the hope of finding a trace of the Rev. Robert W. Lessing, who disappeared Friday. The minister cashed a check for a small amount at Moelle bank and when last seen was being followed by three men supposed to be tramps. Searching parties reported today that no trace is found. The search still continues.

Moore at Benton

Hon. John M. Moore, former representative from Ballard county, and candidate for the Democratic nomination for state senator, is in Benton today replying to the bitter attack on him made by Chairman Fisher, of the Marshall county committee, in his call for the precinct conventions. Moore considers that he is fairly aggrieved; for it was the first time in history, so far as he knows, that a county chairman went out of his way to abuse two candidates in behalf of another in his call. Moore says he has a letter to prove that Fisher offered to deliver the vote of Marshall county at the convention, and he intends to abuse Fisher back again today. J. B. Wyatt, a candidate in Marshall county, also is speaking. Monday they will go to Wickliffe and speak.

WHEAT ENOUGH IN COUNTRY TO FEED ALL THE PEOPLE

Secretary Wilson Looks Horns With Patten About Grain Shortage.

Congress Talks Much of Stopping "Future" Gambling

OGDEN ARMOUR SAYS POOL!

Washington, April 17.—"There is sufficient wheat in the country at normal prices to make bread for the American people until the new crop comes, and those who attempt to keep prices up at the present rate expect to get money out of the common people, the consumer," said Secretary Wilson today in denial of "bread riot" predictions by Thomas W. Lawson.

Chicago, April 17.—The "system of trading in futures of grain is here to stay. Congress never can change it. It is too deep rooted in our commercial system and its benefits and legitimate uses far outweigh occasional abuses to which it may be subjected," said J. Ogden Armour, "Patten hasn't a corner in wheat. His operations are not responsible for the rise in prices for May wheat. A shortage in the wheat supply is the cause."

Produce Legislation.

Washington, April 17.—Congressmen are displaying interest in the Patten wheat corner lively enough to give a promise of curative legislation next winter. Gambling in "futures" of agricultural products has long been a shining mark for statesmen. Eighteen bills to destroy the traffic were introduced in the house last session. It is hard to agree on an effective law, which would snuff out gamblers without damaging legitimate business.

Wheat Report Is Wrong.

Chicago, April 17.—With the entire world stirred up over wheat conditions the statement of Secretary of Agriculture Wilson putting the government statistics of 150,000 disinterested informants against James A. Patten's caused a big sensation.

Mr. Patten replied that his information on the supply of wheat is better than that of the government, that Mr. Wilson's report of March 1 was a farce, the biggest joke of the century; that his experts are postmasters and country merchants and not real experts; that time will show the truth of his statement that there is a vast shortage in the supply of wheat.

"The 'wheat king' said: 'My information is far better than Mr. Wilson's. I do not care if he has 500,000 correspondents to help him, and I now ask Mr. Wilson to tell us where that 143,000,000 bushels of reserve wheat is.'"

Wilson Makes Reply.

Washington, April 17.—Secretary James Wilson, of the department of agriculture, when told of the Patten statement, made indignant denial of the charge of inaccuracy on the part of his agents and reaffirmed the correctness of the March bulletin.

"We don't get our information from postmasters," he exclaimed angrily. "We get it from farmers who are reliable known men. The March report was correct. There were 143,000,000 bushels of reserve wheat. We knew where it was."

"We have been perfecting our system for gathering information for the past 12 years, and it is as correct and thorough as it is possible to get. We are doing our duty faithfully."

"That fellow in Chicago is engaged in a scheme to rob the consumer and to make money."

Texas Mills Close.

Dallas, April 17.—Flour mills over Texas generally today decided to close down indefinitely on account of the high price of wheat. Bakers have reduced the size of loaves from sixteen to twelve ounces and charge five cents.

Farmers Fear Night Riders.

Liberty, Mo., April 17.—Farmers of Clay and adjoining counties who have taken up the culture of tobacco fear that they are soon to have the "Kentucky idea" exemplified to them. Marked copies of a Kentucky paper warning them to beware of running afoul of the "organization" are being received.

Anty Drudge Talks to an Indignant Woman.

Mrs. Topflet—"Just gaze at that skirt! Looks like a piece of Swiss cheese. Full of holes. My washwoman must use quick lime instead of soap."

Anty Drudge—"Why don't you wash at home?"

Mrs. Topflet—"At home, indeed! Why, as you know, I live in an apartment. Boil clothes on a gas range? Most likely land in the hospital."

Anty Drudge—"Why, dear, use Fels-Naptha and you don't have to boil the clothes. Lukewarm or cool water is all that's needed winter or summer. And I'll guarantee your clothes will never again be freckled with holes."

No sensible woman wants to do more work than is necessary to accomplish the best results.

And yet—

There are women who take a full day to do the weekly wash when it can be done in half the time and far better.

Is this because they don't know the Fels-Naptha way?

Or is the reason that they are so governed by habit that they hesitate to try a new method?

The Fels-Naptha way is so easy, so simple. Full directions are on the red and green wrapper.

JR. CIVIC LEAGUE PROVES SUCCESS

School Children Enrolled in Clean-up Contest.

Street Department Kept Busy Hauling Away Trash From City Premises.

CONTESTS ARE WAXING WARM.

Paducah will be a cleaner city, and the work began this morning in the homes of 500 children, who were enrolled in the "Junior Civic League for a Cleaner Paducah" yesterday afternoon at the rally of school children at the Auditorium rink. The meeting was an enthusiastic one, and was attended by 700 children, all of the buildings being represented. The plan of Mayor James Smith to clean up Paducah was explained thoroughly to the children, and every youngster went away with the intention of making his back yard the first to receive attention.

The children heard an address by H. S. Corbett, who took up each prize and described in plain language what it meant, and how it could be secured. He was given perfect attention by the children. Besides explaining the contest, Mr. Corbett spoke to the children of the necessity of cleanliness and its importance.

After the address the call on the children was made to pass two resolutions, which was done unanimously. The resolutions were: "Resolved that all girls and boys who are willing to work for a better and cleaner city by cleaning up their own premises on Saturday morning stand up and vote 'aye.'"

The second resolution was: "Resolved that all girls and boys who are willing to work for the mayor's prizes during the balance of the month of April will give in their names to the secretary and take cards for record of their work and enroll themselves as members of the 'Junior Civic League for a Cleaner Paducah,' and get their badges and promise to do all in their power to encourage others in this work."

Children Enroll.

After the address the children crowded to the platform, where each child wrote his name in a book, and was given a badge of red ribbon and appropriately worded. About 500 children enrolled, received their badges and promised to start work bright and early this morning on their own back yards, and then to convince their neighbors to clean up.

Particular emphasis was placed on the advantage of cleaning up the yards of each public school, and the large American flag, which will be given to the school with the cleanest yard, was shown to the children. At the adjournment of the meeting Miss Elizabeth Sinnott, Mrs. Adine Morton and Mrs. Charles Kiger visited each school building and inspected the grounds so that the improvements could be noted when the contest is closed, and the prize given to the school children, who have made the greatest improvement in the yard.

One encouraging feature of the meeting was that, nearly all of the school teachers were present. The teachers will do much to keep the contest before the children constantly and encourage the children in the beautifying of the school yard.

Wagons Are Busy.

Mr. Ernest Bell, the street inspector, is able to inform anyone that the contest is a success, for three wagons are kept busy every day hauling away the trash which has been collected because of the children who have begun work already.

Golf Fun.

Two neighbors were recently battling over the club links. All went well, although bobby remained practically intact, until they reach a tee overlooking a pond.

Each drove furiously, then cautiously, a half dozen balls into the muddy depths of that pool.

Standing near by was a little girl, stupid but curious. After the twelfth ball had plunged to rise no more, she queried, blankly but sincerely, to the golfer:

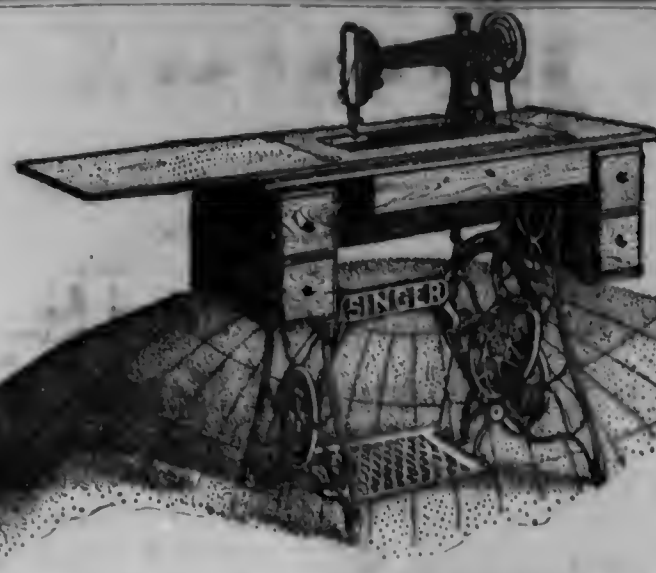

"Mister, what is the fun in this game?"

E. Pierce a steamboat employee, complained to the police last night about midnight that two negroes held him up at Ninth and Norton streets. While the "stick-up" men covered him with guns they went through his pockets at the same time. Pierce had no money and he had concealed his gold watch safely. He described the men to the police, who looked for the negroes last night.

SUNDAY SCHOOL

CONVENTION AT ELIZABETH-TOWN LARGELY ATTENDED.

Baptist Ministers and Laymen Tell Needs and Plans for Work in the State.

Elizabethtown, Ky., April 17.—The state Baptist Sunday school convention, which convened in this city, had about 250 delegates from the various sections of the state in attendance.

The Sunday school situation in western, eastern and central Kentucky, and in the mountains of the state, were fully discussed by the Rev. W. E. Hunter, of Princeton; W. H. Vaughn, of Louisville; the Rev. J. T. Bowden, of Louisville, and the Rev. L. B. Arvin, of Barbourville.

There are now 1,051 Baptist churches in the state, while there are 395 of the number without Sunday schools.

The need of a state Baptist Sunday school organization was explained by the Rev. W. J. Bohn, of Newport. The Rev. R. E. Reed, of Louisville, spoke on the value and purpose of a state Baptist Sunday school organization, and the Rev. W. J. Mahoney, of Louisville, made an address on the plans for a state Baptist Sunday school organization. The need, value, purpose and plans of Sunday schools, discussed by the three last named ministers, were very interesting topics and closely held the attention of the delegates of the convention.

A permanent organization was effected by electing J. M. Stalling, of Smiths Grove, president, and E. A. Cottrell, of Louisville, secretary. A constitution was adopted providing for the permanency of Sunday school work through an executive committee. A nominating committee composed of the Rev. C. K. Hoagland, of Louisville; the Rev. H. B. Taylor, of Murray; the Rev. W. J. Bohn, of Newport; the Rev. W. E. Hunter, of Princeton, and the Rev. A. B. Gardner, of Beaver Dam, to nominate the executive committee and to name the place of the next meeting.

Daily Thought.

The mark of a free man is that he binds himself to some high duty.

The man who misses a train feels that everything is delayed by his failure, but the train arrives on time just the same. Perhaps that is why the other passengers don't worry about his predicament.

"The tariff is a mocker," says Governor Harmon, of Ohio. That's so, and judging from the action of the minority in congress, free trade is raging, and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise.

We can scarcely credit those intemperate words, attributed to County Judge Lightfoot in the morning paper of yesterday, about the present state administration. Judge Lightfoot will lead a delegation of McCracken county representatives to Frankfort to ask that the raise in the county's assessment be reconsidered, and we greatly fear, such an interview, if it should come to the notice of the authorities of Frankfort, might cost the citizens of McCracken county a million or so dollars. If so, that would be expensive talk.

Under the official call of Chairman Fisher, of Marshall county, any Democrat who does not go to the precinct convention to oppose John M. Moore and J. B. Wyatt, is out of order.

THE JUVENILE COURT VS. THE REFORMATORY.

If those who are lukewarm on the subject of establishing a juvenile court with the probation system, while counting the cost of it, would count the cost of the sending boys and girls to the reform school at Lexington, soon they would open their eyes.

It may not be known generally, that when a boy or girl is committed to the state reform school, the officer, conveying the prisoner, receives a fee of ten cents the mile. This amounts to a few cents over $74 for the trip, and by exercising economy the officer can make a profit of more than $40 on the trip.

Let us suppose there are ten children committed in a year. That costs the county $740 for transportation alone, out of which the officer makes a profit of $400. That $740 would go a long way toward maintaining a juvenile court for a year, without counting the additional benefit of making good citizens of the wards of the court, as compared with the pernicious effect of a term in the reformatory.

But there is another consideration, the profit to the officer. We do not intend to infer that there has been abuse of the fee system in McCracken county, but we do assert that a system, which makes it profitable for an officer to prove to the satisfaction of a friendly court, that a boy or girl ought to be sent to the state reformatory, is bad and liable to abuse at the hands of a wicked officer.

Hopkinsville, the wheat center of western Kentucky, comes a statement of the other side of the picture: "There is very little wheat remaining in the hands of the farmers, but local mills are offering $1.30 per bushel for all that is brought to them."

Always there is the struggle between the "ultimate consumer" and the producer.

That is causing the dissensions among the Democratic representatives at Washington, preventing them caucusing and giving rise to shouts of "Judah," and "traitor!" Each wants the tariff so adjusted, that a high tariff will bar competition from the things produced in his district, and free trade provisions will reduce to a minimum the cost of necessities, which his district does not produce.

The farmer gets more for his wheat, but the laborer pays more for his bread. The laborer gets better wages, but the farmer pays more for his wire.

But, they say not much wheat remains in the hands of the farmer. No, we presume not; but if it did, the price would be up just the same. We cannot pass laws, compelling farmers to hold their wheat for a certain price. We cannot assure them they will get the price, if they do hold it. But those, who did, are reaping their reward. Ordinarily we think about the wrongs of the farmer, but if he isn't making money off his wheat, he cannot blame the market. On the other hand, Patten may be right, when he says he simply took advantage of the law of supply and demand.

BANZAI!

Once more the little brown man of the orient excels his Yankee precursor, and members of parliament, whose emperor is their god, and whose patriotism is their religion, have been systematically robbing their country in a manner to make a Pittsburgh common councilman appear amateurish. We have some senators, who receive very large fees for very small services to corporations, and congressmen, who prove themselves wizards of finance with their small salaries; but none of them have been arrested on the charge of receiving direct bribes. There is little comfort in the thought that we are no worse than the Japanese, but there was comfort in the belief that we were no worse than Europeans, and that we still have the manhood to expose corruption in high places and cure it. Either the Japanese officials are worse than ours, or else the Japs are more able to bring their delinquent officials to book.

The Paducah Commercial club is a thing of the past. Long dead it is now decently buried in the sepulchre of the Retail Merchants' association. To those who love Paducah its passing has much of sadness. It, a dominant tone of warning, a fond opportunity unrealized, a narrowness rather than largeness of vision, obtruding selfishness rather than the common good, such were at least some of the symptoms of its fatal malady. Patently organized for the "commercial" interests and well-to-do of the city, it limited its own ac-

Paris Wedding.

The following account of the wedding of Miss Kate Oliver, of Paris, Tenn., who is known in Paducah, will be of interest to friends here. The Parisian says:

"A very beautiful but quiet wedding was that of Mr. H. F. Rose, of Hazel, Kentucky, and Miss Kate Oliver, of Paris. The wedding was solemnized by Dr. W. T. Bolling at the Oliver home in this city on Wednesday evening. Mr. Rose is a popular business man of Hazel, possessing energy, ability and high integrity. Miss Oliver stands very high in educational and social circles, having been one of the most capable of our teachers. A young woman of brilliant mind and exceptional accomplishments, she will be greatly missed from her extensive circle of friends. Mr. and Mrs. Rose will make their future home in Hazel.

The music at the marriage was a pretty feature. Mrs. Charles Hastings was at the piano and rendered a number of beautiful selections. The reception rooms were elaborately decorated with ferns, palms, carnations and clusters of spring flowers. The bride was stylishly gowned in a traveling suit of reeds prunella cloth, with hat to match, and her bouquet was bride's roses, lilies-of-the-valley and maiden hair ferns. Clanton and Abbott, of Hazel."

Literature Department Makes Plans for Next Year.

The literature department of the Woman's club met Friday morning at the Woman's club house. In the absence of the chairman, Mrs. Muscoe Burnett, Miss Helen Lowry presided. A program committee to arrange the course of study for next year was appointed. It consists of Miss Dow Husbands, Miss Adine Morton and Mrs. Muscoe Burnett. The course of study was discussed and it was decided to make an historical, as well as a critical study of literature. The selection of the literary period and nation was left to the committee.

Wednesday morning was suggested and probably will be adopted. Friday is objected to, because of another club meeting in the building at the same hour.

The literary discussions of the morning were on "Walt Whitman" and "Sidney Lanier." Miss Susan Morton gave an "Appreciation of Sidney Lanier." Miss Ora V. Leigh gave an "Estimate of Whitman" in a remarkably clever paper, that emphasized

Woman's Club Work.

The Woman's club met in regular session on Thursday afternoon at the club house. The business meeting was one of especial interest and the discussion covered a wide range.

It was planned to have a May day celebration on May 6, and a flower festival on May 20. Both entertainments will be given at the Woman's club house. The first will be in the nature of an out-of-door tea. The flower festival will be more elaborate. Booths representing different

A committee to arrange for the Paducah Woman's club year-book for the year 1930-1931 was appointed as follows: Mrs. George A. Flournoy, Mrs. R. G. Terrell, Mrs. Muscoe Burnett and Mrs. George U. Warner.

Mrs. James A. Rudy, the president, gave an interesting resume of the recent meeting of the executive board of the State Federation at Harrisburg, which Mrs. Rudy attended as third vice-president of the state. Mrs. Rudy touched on a number of features that showed the State Federation was gaining importance in every way through the success of its various undertakings, and stressed the honor of having a part in the magnificent work that is going on through Woman's efforts. She especially noted: First, The entire earnestness and consecration of the women to the work

On the other hand, Patten may be right, when he says he simply took advantage of the law of supply and demand.

BANZAI!

Once more the little brown man of the orient excels his Yankee preceptor, and members of parliament, whose emperor is their god, and whose patriotism is their religion, have been systematically robbing their country in a manner to make a Pittsburgh common councilman appear amiable. We have some senators, who receive very large fees for very small services to corporations, and congressmen, who prove themselves wizards of finance with their small salaries; but none of them have been arrested on the charge of receiving direct bribes. There is little comfort in the thought that there are no worse than the Japanese, but there was comfort in the belief that we were no worse than Europeans, and that we still have the manhood to expose corruption in high places and cure it. Either the Japanese officials are worse than ours, or else the Japs are more able to bring their delinquent officials to book.

Weekly Comments on Things About Town.

The Paducah Commercial club is a thing of the past. Long dead it is now decently buried in the sepulchre of the Retail Merchants' association. To those who love Paducah its passing is much of sadness, in it, a dominant tone of warning, splendid opportunities unrealized, narrowness rather than largeness of vision, obstructing selfishness rather than the common good, such were at least some of the symptoms of its fatal malady. Patently organized for the "commercial" interests and welfare of the city, it limited its own scope to attempts to import new industries which should pour more money into the tills of its members. Small wonder then that its machinery was used for ends which on the surface at least could only redound to the benefit of the few rather than of the many. Not the fact that mistakes were made in subsidizing defunct or dishonest enterprises, but to a self-centering that had no view of the larger things that go to make a city's real prosperity and lasting welfare. "The King is dead, long live the Queen."

Not from the ashes of the dead Commercial club, but from the fertile soil from which it might have drawn its strength, has arisen the Woman's club. No nearsightedness of self-interest, but a largeness of vision, where the personal equation is almost eliminated, the common good is sought for, along the lines of the most enlightened progress, and great even now has been the harvest. Object lessons in the proper equipment and sanitary surroundings of a public school, reform in the election and personnel of the board of education, aid in the stamping out of the dread disease of consumption which is decimating our population, beauty and cleanliness and consequent healthfulness of our city,—such are some of the elemental rays that make the radiance of the vision of our women. To give us better educational facilities means more to a city's coffers than any number of subsidized factories. To help to remove from Paducah the stigma, largely undeserved, of being an unhealthy city, will be her best advertisement. To lay foundations broad and deep for present healthfulness, intelligence and helpfulness, on which any superstructure of increase of population or enlarged pay-rolls may safely and permanently be reared,—this is the path of wisdom as well as largest vision. Our Man of Affairs la wout to look down on woman as lacking business sense, a dreamer, sentimental. But the Commercial club is dead, and the Woman's club, in its own beautiful home lives and really does things. In the words of the ever-present advertisement, "There's a reason."

Paris Wedding.
 The following account of the wedding of Miss Kate Oliver, of Paris, Tenn., who is known in Paducah, will be of interest to friends here. The Parisian says:

"A very beautiful but quiet wedding was that of Mr. H. F. Rose, of Hazel, Kentucky, and Miss Kate Oliver, of Paris. The wedding was solemnized by Dr. W. T. Bolling at the Oliver home in this city on Wednesday evening. Mr. Rose is a popular business man of Hazel, possessing energy, ability and high integrity. Miss Oliver stands very high in educational and social circles, having been one of the most capable of our teachers. A young woman of brilliant mind and exceptional accomplishments, she will be greatly missed from her extensive circle of friends. Mr. and Mrs. Rose will make their future home in Hazel."

"The music at the marriage was a pretty feature. Mrs. Charles Hastings was at the piano and rendered a number of beautiful selections. The reception rooms were elaborately decorated with ferns, palms, carnations and clusters of spring flowers. The bride was stylishly gowned in a traveling suit of recede prunella cloth, with hat to match, and her bouquet was bride's roses, lilies-of-the-valley and maiden hair ferns. Mr. and Mrs. Rose left on the afternoon train via Cincinnati for an eastern trip. The out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Oliver and daughter, of Union City and Messrs. Clanton and Abbott, of Hazel."

Literature Department Makes Plans for Next Year.
 The Literature department of the Woman's club met Friday morning at the Woman's club house. In the absence of the chairman, Mrs. Muscoe Burnett, Miss Helen Lowry presided. A program committee to arrange the course of study for next year was appointed. It consists of Miss Dow Husbands, Miss Adine Morton and Mrs. Muscoe Burnett. The course of study was discussed and it was decided to make an historical, as well as a critical study of literature. The selection of the literary period and nation was left to the committee. Wednesday morning was suggested and probably will be adopted. Friday is objected to, because of another club meeting in the building at the same hour.

The literary discussions of the morning were on "Walt Whitman" and "Sidney Lanier." Miss Susan Morton gave an "Appreciation of Sidney Lanier." Miss Ora V. Leigh gave an "Estimate of Whitman" in a remarkably clever paper, that emphasized

The second prize was given to Master Thomas Corbett, who recited "Ben Butler's Last Race," which is an extract from "The Bishop of Cotton-town."

The other speakers who won honorable mention were: "The Gate of the Giant Sissors," by Marie Welfie; "The Siege of Troy," Pettit Powell; "The Three Weavers," Winnie Potter.

A musical program was given in which Leslie Warren, Geneva Clayton, Ruby Darnell, Elmer Forrest, Lucile Itawleigh, Flora Johnson and Robert Bondurant took part. A Deduction From An Easter Hat.
 There is a girl in our town and she is wondrous wise. And her new home-made Easter hat will open people's eyes. She commended the wash tub and Willie's speckled hen. The rag bag and the crazy quilt and cuttals from the fen. A yard of Brussels carpet and a cake of yellow soap. A half a dozen ostrich eggs, and a knot of curtain rope. A bottle of Tabasco sauce, and the stone from uncle's grave. And for the pom-pom took the brush her father used to shave. That girl's got brains, she has, and men folks, please take note, She's a member of the brainy sex who think they ought to vote. —Life.

Miss Brooks is a beautiful and cultured girl of much personal and mental charm. She is the only daughter of Dr. John O. Brooks and Mrs. Brooks and has a wide circle of friends. Mr. Koger is one of the leading young men of the city both socially and in a business way. He is the son of Capt. James V. Kiger and is of the firm of the George Rock Shoe company.

We have for some time been recipients of friends and associates who have helped in most favorable way, and it is we who are under obligations to thank you. Attractive Children's Hour at Library.

The "Children's Hour" at the Carnegie library this morning was of more than usual interest. Instead of being entertained by the grown-ups, stories were delightfully told by the children themselves. Little Miss Lydia Wellie gave in a most attractive way "The Flute and Violin," by James Lane Allen. Master Robert Tate told with fine vigor "The First Marathon," and Master Thomas Corbett gave with sympathetic appreciation "Ben Butler's Last Race" from "The Bishop of Cottonwood." Each story was featured in a most natural and interesting manner. Miss Wellie won the blue ribbon in the story-telling contest at the Washington building yesterday, and the two boys bore off the red ribbon honors. About 55 children were present this morning and showed a thorough appreciation of the pleasure of the occasion.

HEAD SEVERED

PERRY L. McELISH CUTS HIS THROAT WITH RAZOR.

Because of financial troubles, Perry L. McElish, 48 years old, committed suicide yesterday afternoon on the farm of R. B. Leeper, nine miles from Brookport, Ill. He held a razor in his right hand. His throat was cut so that his head was almost severed from his body. No notes were found to explain the cause of the suicide.

McElish was to have been married to Miss Florence L. Miller, of Pittsburgh, next Monday, and it is believed that he brooded over his financial condition. Two letters were found in his pockets. One declared a position as solicitor for a school in Pittsburgh, because of his financial straits, and the second was about a land deal that was pending.

McElish was a man of good education. He worked on the farm of Leeper for several months, drifting down to Illinois from Pittsburgh. He was born in Cumberland, Md., and was a widower. He leaves a son, Cleveland McElish, of Philadelphia, and a daughter in Pittsburgh. One brother resides in Cumberland, Md. A sister lives in Pittsburgh. Dr. J. Jones, of Cumberland, Md., is a cousin.

McElish severed every artery and vein in his neck, and the head was attached to the body only by the skin. His body was brought to Paducah this morning on the steamer Cowling to the undertaking establishment of Nance & Rogers.

DUN'S REVIEW.

New York, April 17.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: Although the movement of trade is slow, it is of large volume and steadily going in the direction of improvement.

In iron and steel the structural lines continue to reflect a broader demand, contracts placed thus far this month, comprising a very substantial tonnage and considerable new business is also in sight. The railroads are taking advantage of the low prices named to make necessary improvements and extensions while the advancing season has stimulated building activity in many sections. One encouraging feature is the increased interest shown in pig iron.

Improvement in the shoe market is steady, although the movement is quiet. Some western and southern wholesalers have begun to place orders for summer delivery. Shipments of shoes from Boston for this year, thus far, show an increase of about 25 per cent, as compared with the corresponding period a year ago. Some concessions are being made in prices to secure business, but on the whole values are firm. The hide market is quiet, but prices are firm, with most kinds of packer hides slightly higher than a week ago. The report of heavy transactions in leather last week are now confirmed, the largest sales being of hemlock sole. Business is on a much lessened scale this week, but trade on the whole is considerably better than it was a fortnight ago.

In the primary market for cotton goods the effect of the heavy export business to China is apparent, many mills having turned over their machinery, wholly or in part, to the production of these goods. While most of the business taken thus far has been for 3.50 sheetings, considerable inquiry has been reported of late for lighter weights, a development which, should orders actually be placed, will still further strengthen the domestic market. Card of Thanks.

It became our duty as husband and children to thank our associates and friends who have been so kind to us during the illness and death of wife and mother. It is at such a time as this, that we feel that words may express the feelings of our hearts but never perhaps has our unworthiness been made more manifest by the outpouring of kindness upon us; but while in our humble way in return for kindly deeds rendered us while in time of utmost need we wish to contribute many kind and pleasurable deeds of help to those about us. We have for some time been recipients of friends and associates who have helped in most favorable way, and it is we who are under obligations to thank you. We also wish to thank those who were with and around us in bereavement.
We thank those who have shown respect and kind deeds to us in any way. We shall cherish and have sweet memories of them during our days to come.
Hoping that our friendship may be clinging henceforth with the earnest hope if opportunity affords.
We wish to repay all in frequent deeds of kindness for what you have tendered us.

Attractive Children's Hour at Library.

The "Children's Hour" at the Carnegie library this morning was of more than usual interest. Instead of being entertained by the grown-ups, stories were delightfully told by the children themselves. Little Miss Ly-way "The Flute and Violin," by James Lane Allen. Master Robert

Tate told with fine vigor "The First Marathon," and Master Thomas Corbett gave with sympathetic appreciation "Ben Butler's Last Race" from "The Bishop of Cottonwood." Each story was featured in a most natural and interesting manner. Miss Welle won the blue ribbon in the story-telling contest at the Washington building yesterday, and the two boys bore off the red ribbon honors. About 55 children were present this morning and showed a thorough appreciation of the pleasure of the occasion.

PERRY L. McELISH CUTS HIS THROAT WITH RAZOR.

Because of financial troubles, Perry L. McElish, 48 years old, committed suicide yesterday afternoon on the farm of R. B. Leeper, nine miles from Brookport, Ill. He held a razor in his right hand. His throat was cut so that his head was almost severed from his body. No notes were found to explain the cause of the suicide.

McElish was to have been married to Miss Florence L. Miller, of Pittsburgh, next Monday, and it is believed that he brooded over his financial condition. Two letters were found in his pockets. One declined a position as solicitor for a school in Pittsburgh, because of his financial standing, and the second was about a land deal that was pending.

McElish was a man of good education. He worked on the farm of Leeper for several months, drifting down to Illinois from Pittsburgh. He was born in Cumberland, Md., and was a widower. He leaves a son,
Cleveland McElish, of Philadelphia, and a daughter in Pittsburgh. One brother resides in Cumberland, Md.
A sister lives in Pittsburgh. Dr. J.
Jones, of Cumberland, Md., is a consult.

McElish severed every artery and vein in his neck, and the head was attached to the body only by the skin.
His body was brought to Paducah
this morning on the steamer Cowling to the undertaking establishment of Nance & Rogers.

DUN'S REVIEW.

New York, April 17.—R. G. Dun
& Co.'s weekly review of trade says:
Although the movement of trade is slow, it is of large volume and steadily going in the direction of improvement.

In iron and steel the structural lines continue to reflect a broader demand, contracts placed thus far this month, comprising a very substantial tonnage and considerable new business is also in sight. The railroads are taking advantage of the low prices named to make necessary improvements and extensions while the advancing season has stimulated building activity in many sections. One encouraging feature is the increased interest shown in pig iron.

Improvement in the shoe market is steady, although the movement is quiet. Some western and southern wholesalers have begun to place orders for summer delivery. Shipments of shoes from Boston for this year, thus far, show an increase of about 25 per cent, as compared with the corresponding period a year ago.
Some concessions are being made in prices to secure business, but on the whole values are firm. The hide market is quiet, but prices are firm, with most kinds of packer hides
slightly higher than a week ago.

The report of heavy transactions in leather last week are now confirmed, the largest sales being of hemlock sole. Business is on a much lessened scale this week, but trade on the whole is considerably better than it was a fortnight ago.

In the primary market for cotton goods the effect of the heavy export business to China is apparent, many mills having turned over their machinery, wholly or in part, to the production of these goods. While most of the business taken thus far has been for 3.50 sheetings, considerable inquiry has been reported of late for lighter weights, a development which should order actually be placed, will still further strengthen the domestic market. In the

S.S.S. DRIVES OUT RHEUMATISM

Rheumatism is due to an excess of uric acid, an irritating, inflammatory accumulation, which gets into the circulation because of weak kidneys, constipation, indigestion, and other physical irregularities which are usually considered of no importance. Nothing applied externally can ever reach the seat of this trouble; the most such treatment can do is soothe the pains temporarily; while potash and other mineral medicines really add to the acidity of the blood, and this fluid therefore continually grows more acid and vitiated. Then instead of nourishing the different muscles and joints, keeping them in a normally supple and elastic condition, it gradually hardens and stiffens them by drying up the natural oils and fluids. Rheumatism can never be cured until the blood is purified. S.S.S. thoroughly cleanses and renovates the circulation by neutralizing the acids and driving the cause from the system. It strengthens and invigorates the blood so that instead of a sour, weak stream, depositing acid and painful corrosive matter in the muscles, joints and bones, it nourishes the entire body with pure, rich blood and permanently cures Rheumatism. S.S.S. contains no potash, alkali or other harmful mineral, but is made entirely of roots, herbs and barks of great purifying and tonic properties. Book on Rheumatism and any medical advice free to all who write.

WOMEN ACCOUNTANTS.

There Are Said to Be Twenty-Five in This Country.

One line of work which women have recently taken up is accounting. There are said to be about twenty-five women engaged in this work in the United States. They have come into this field within the last two or three years and have met with unexpected success.

It is hard work, but it is far more remunerative, according to a writer in the bookkeeper, than any other of the professions in which women have heretofore engaged. A director in a leading commercial school of New York says:

"I know of two women in well known concerns who have mapped out and put into operation a complete new system of financial methods for their employers and who have even been entrusted with big funds for profitable investment and whose advice has been followed in many other important business undertakings. The number of such women who have proved their ability and liking for this responsible and remunerative work is steadily growing. It offers a splendid field for the woman who is not loath to accept responsibilities and who has a liking for the hard work it entails and who is ambitious."

Nearly all the commercial schools show a steady increase in the number of women students over previous years. One of them reports that four-fifths of its students in the regular business course this year, which includes stenography, commercial law, banking, English and kindred subjects, are women.

In the bookkeeping classes there are about as many women as men. A very large proportion of these women, who appear to have marked out a business career, are college bred, and many others are high school graduates. One reason given for this tendency is the overcrowding of such professions as teaching.

Phonographic Records.

The Academy of Sciences at Vienna has decided upon the creation of phonographic archives, which will be divided into three parts, and which will probably be the most remarkable library on record. The first section will be devoted to examples of European languages and dialects of the different peoples spoken at the beginning of the twentieth century. The second will contain examples of music and song of the same period, while the third section will be reserved for the records of contemporary orators.

The trouble with the family skeleton is that it is never as dead as it seems.

HOW A BARREL IS MADE UP

Built by Thousands, But Few People Posted.

Croatians Work Arkansas Timber For Shipment Abroad to Cask Country's Wine.

U. S. STAVES ARE IN DEMAND

The barrel is of great antiquity and in point of time the cooperage industry is venerable. The "Good Book" mentions "stack barrel" work and nearly 2,000 years ago Pliny, the "special" writer of his time, devoted an article to the subject. With all his research he could locate the origin of the industry in place only; even in his time it was so ancient that the beginning was hidden in the mists of years.

The perfection of a barrel is only the laying on of many hands to the imperial white oak. Of course, barrels are made of many other kinds of timber, but it is the white oak that makes the best and the highest priced, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. A fine white oak whose symmetrical branches and vertical lined bark showed the men who read wood lore as an open book that it would "rive" well, attracted the attention of two men that were looking for stave trees. One of them voiced his satisfaction at the prospect in the vernacular of the trade:

"I say, Bill, that is good for two cuts of 'queen's pipe,' five cuts of 'whiskies' and short 'spayed stock' clear to the limbs."

The "queen's pipe" meant that it would make the very best of staves sixty-six inches long. In the days of "Good Queen Bess" a special cask of royal size was called a "queen's pipe." "Whiskies" are the staves for a whisky barrel. "Spayed stock" is for the conical vessels that are used for an infinite variety of purposes.

The two men are not stagemakers; they are known as bolters; their mission is to get the tree felled and divided into bolts, leaving to others the work of subdividing them into staves.

The necessity for saving time and material has led to modifications of the tools used. Wedges are made so wide in proportion to length as to look like axes without handles. With deft strokes the different "cuts" of the tree trunk are changed into the "bolts" that look like firewood split in very uniform size and "ended up" along the remainder of the log and round the stump. The work of the bolters is ended for this tree.

Except for the greater care exercised there is nothing different in riving staves from riving the old-time claphboards. The riven boards are piled in alternate layers and weighted down to prevent warping while they dry out. In spite of the vigilance of the bolters and rivers defective pieces will get into the piles and reduce the number that will pass inspection when the staves are shipping dry.

The efforts put forth and expense incurred to get American staves are almost incredible. There is a crew of men now in Van Buren county, Arkansas, that came from Croatia in search of staves of an odd size, not made by American manufacturers. They "rough out" the stock, half dry it, haul it sixty-five miles on wagons, hew it to dimension to reduce weight, send it to Mobile by rail, whence it is carried to Adriatic ports, again transferred to railroad and taken to Agram, where it is finally made into casks for the Croatian wines.

The "whiskies" that our men bolted out and rove are the best of the tree. It is a case of "give a dog a bad name," for while for convenience they still retain the title, not 20 per cent of the barrels made with whisky staves ever hold whisky. Russia, with its great wealth of forest that its inhabitants have not the skill to utilize, puts its kerosene in American barrels. The South American countries are great users of United States cooperage. The Frenchman, the Italian, the Spaniard, the Turk and the Arab store wines to ripen in American casks and the Englishman's ale can attain perfection only in "oggs" made of American oak.

It is a singular fact that while there are no products of the oak that are agreeable to the taste, oak barrels seem to give a fine flavor to yel. In Indiana W 12345 121212 beverages. The perfection of whiskies are those that have ripened in oak barrels.

What becomes of the old barrels? Like human beings they must trust much to fate and have little control over destiny. Some through no effort of their own will reach a high plane of existence, so monotonous as to be often mistaken for ring-nation; others will rapidly rise to a "minimization of career and then gradually descend to oblivion. The barrel whose fate it was to cross the ocean comes back filled with spice liquor and while it lasted enjoyed a glory reflected from its contents. Once empty, its onetime importance forgotten, it was only a "second hand." Amid the hilarity occasioned by the last of its contents a hoop was broken and a stave "struck." The wagon from the second-hand store delivered it to the barrel hospital; a stave was taken from a worse wreck, transmitted to this and the barrel marked "good as new." But it was "down the toboggan," for it. A farmer bought it for vinegar and after a short service it was again in the hospital. This time it lost a head and went to an infamous end, as a will barrel at the back kitchen door.

GET RID OF OLD THINGS.

Associations are what make things dear to us; but they change color often as the years cast a different light upon them. Hideous beds are kept because people have died in them; clumsy bureaus take up needed room, and marble-topped tables wobble on an insecure center leg because they belonged once to somebody who thought them beautiful. It seems a sort of sacrilege to part with them.

Yet they are dumb, inanimate things if the blessed ones who are gone are no longer associated with them so as to add pleasure to their possession—it is rather as if we felt that they were holding us to account and would be deeply hurt if we were surrounded by furnishings that were grateful and convenient and cheering. I heard a woman once remark:

"I sometimes wish this house would burn down with every stick of furniture in it. It has the most depressing influence on me. But I can't make up my mind to dispose of it in any way."

And even when our associations are still a living power for our own help and furtherment we need to be very careful that they do not clutter up the place hampering for other people. It is sometimes a stern awakening to look at them with the eyes of the younger generation. Mary Stewart Cutting, in Harper's Bazar.

A Decisive Battle.

A maid servant in the employ of a Brooklyn woman left the other day in charge of the children while her mistress went for a long drive.

"Well, Mary," asked the lady on her return, "how did the children behave during my absence? Nicely, I hope."

"Nicely, ma'am," Mary answered, "but at the end they fought terribly together."

"Fight! Mercy me! Why did they fight?"

"To decide which was behaving the best."

The Largest Grapevine.

The largest grapevine in the world is 120 years old and is at San Gabriel, Cal., planted by Franciscan friars. The stalk is one and one-half feet in diameter, eight feet high and the branches and foliage cover an area of 5,000 square feet. Its average crop of grapes is two and one-half tons yearly. It forms the summer dining place of the San Gabriel Hotel.

YOUR HAT

May Be a Stylish One, But It Makes Trouble.

A man usually buys a hat that's "in style," but the modern hat for men has lots to answer for. Baldheads are growing more numerous every day. Hats make excellent breeding places for the parasite germs which sap the life from the roots of the hair.

When your hair begins to fall out and your scalp is full of dandruff it is a sure sign that these countless germs are busily at work.

There is but one way to overcome the trouble and kill the germs—that way is to apply Newbro's Itchicide to the scalp—it will kill the germs and healthy hair is sure to result.

Sold by leading druggists. Send for stamps for sample to The Itchicide Co., Detroit, Mich. $1.00 bottles guaranteed. R. W. Walker Co., Special Agents.

FAITHFUL HOUSEWIVES OF THE UNITED STATES

Send Grateful Tributes to Dr. Hartman For Benefits Received From Pe-ru-na.

MRS. D. C. NOLAN.

No More Throat Trouble.

Mrs. D. C. Nolan, Gen. Kas., writes: "I have no more throat trouble, thanks to Peruna. It is the only medicine I care to have. I always feel safe when I have it in the house."

"I have used Peruna for nine years, and I ought to know about it. Peruna has helped me a great many times, and I shall praise it to every one of my friends."

Ever since Peruna was introduced to the public thirty years ago, the housewife has been an ever faithful friend to Peruna. She it is that has seen the practical benefits of the use of Peruna in the family.

When the baby has snuffles or colds she gives a few doses of Peruna, instead of filling the system with the doctor's drugs. When the school children have coughs or colds she again resorts to Peruna.

When any member of the family is afflicted with catarrh, either in its acute or chronic form, Peruna is resorted to. In a large number of minor ailments she finds Peruna a true household remedy.

All this has won the confidence of the housewife in Peruna, which cannot be easily shaken by the statements of people who know nothing of Peruna, having never had any personal experience in its use.

Pe-ru-na Tablets.

Some people prefer to take tablets, rather than to take medicine in a fluid form. Such people can obtain Peruna tablets, which represent the solid medicinal ingredients of Peruna. Each tablet is equivalent to one average dose of Peruna.

Mrs. T. J. Ballard, Pryor Creek, Indian Territory, writes: "I keep free from my old stomach trouble, feel no catarrhal symptoms at all. I am able to do my work, eat and drink what I want, and am rejoiced to know that I found a sure cure in your valuable medicine."

Dyspepsia and Constipation.

Mrs. John M. Stabler, Millersburg, Ind., writes: "I have been cured of a very bad case of catarrh of the stomach and constipation, and a complication of ailments that I have had for several years."

"I doctored with three doctors who did me not much good, so I quit doctoring. I bought a bottle of Peruna and commenced taking it. I found I was getting some better, but thought I was not doing as well as I might. So I wrote to Dr. Hartman to see what he thought about me. He gave me special directions and medical advice."

"To our astonishment I improved and am today a well woman and weigh as much as I ever did in my life."

"My old friends in Ohio, where we moved from about fifteen months ago, say when they see me, 'How well you look. I did not expect to see you ever look so well again.' I tell them I would not look so well if it had not been for Peruna."

"Peruna saved my life. I recommend Peruna wherever I am, and when any of our folks are sick I give them Peruna with success."

"I thank Dr. Hartman, and may he live many years more to go on with the good work. Tongue cannot express the gratitude that my husband, children and I owe to Dr. Hartman for the kindness he has shown toward me during my sickness."

"I want the public to know what Peruna and Dr. Hartman have done for me."

An astonishing number of families use Peruna continuously for the various petty ailments to which the family is liable.

Systemic Catarrh.

Mrs. Augusta Pauline Ochs, R. F. D. 2, North English, Iowa, writes: "I took Peruna over three years. I suffered from systemic catarrh and had pains in my right side so I could hardly do my housework."

"I am 61 years old, and am now doing all my housework. I am in the best of health, and cannot thank Dr. Hartman enough for his advice and medicine."

Admiral and General Stoessel Also Likely to Be Pardoned Soon.

St. Petersburg, April 17.—Rear Admiral Gregoroff and Lieutenant Smirnov, subordinate officers under Vice Admiral Negotoff in the Russo-Japanese war, have been pardoned and released from confinement in the Fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul. These officers were sentenced to death for having surrendered their commands, but, in view of extenuating circumstances, their sentences were commuted to ten years' imprisonment in a fortress. They began serving their sentences in 1907. It is reported that General Stoessel and Vice Admiral Negotoff also will be pardoned shortly.

Scientific Lumbering.

A corps of forest experts from Canada and the United States have so planned the method of cutting trees in the section supplying lumber mills of Newfoundland, that a steady supply of logs is assured with a new "cut" every forty years. Adopted years ago, this system would have saved short-lived boom towns and many forests. It is scientific lumbering.—Boston Record.

"This one hangs all right," he said; "give me a box of cartridges."

He emptied his gold sack in payment for the gun and ammunition, then remarked:

"That pretty nearly cleans me. If I had the price I'd take them both."

Gale wondered what need induced this fellow to spend his last few dollars on a firearm. Then he inquired:

"Bound for the outside?"

"No. I'm locating here."

The trader darted a quick glance at him. He did not like this man.

"There ain't much doing in this camp. It's a pretty poor place," he said guardedly.

"I'll put in with you, from this looks," agreed the other. "It's got too many men, but as he watched the fellow a scheme outlined itself in his head. Evidently the man dared not go farther down the river, for there was nothing save Indian camps and a mulsion or two this side of St. Michael's, and at that point there were a court and many soldiers, where one was liable to meet the penalty of past misdeeds; hence he was probably resolved to stop here, and, judging by his record, he was a man of unsettled convictions.

The trader stepped to the door and, seeing Burrell on the deck of the steamer, went down toward him. It was a long chance, but the stakes were big and worth the risk. He had thought much during the night previous—in fact, for many hours—and the morning had found him still undecided, therefore he took this course.

"Neela tells me that you aim to keep law and order here," he began abruptly, having drawn the young man aside. "Those are my instructions," said Burrell, "but they are so vague—"

"Well, this camp is bigger than it was an hour ago, and it ain't improved any in the growth. Yonder goes the new citizen." He pointed to the stranger, who had returned to the steamer for his baggage and was descending the gangplank beneath them, a valise in each hand. "He's a thief and a murderer, and we don't want him here. Now, it's up to you."

"I don't understand," said the lieutenant, whereupon the trader told him Doret's tale. "You and your men were sent here to keep things peaceable," he concluded, "and I reckon when a man is too tough for the Canuck police he is tough enough for you to tackle. There ain't a lock and key in the camp, and we ain't had a killing or a stealing in ten years. We'd like to keep it that way."

"Well, you see, I know nothing of that shooting affray, so I doubt if my authority would permit me to interfere," the soldier mused, half to himself.

"I allowed you were to use your own judgment," said the elder man.

"So I am, I suppose. There is one chance, Mr. Gale. If you'll back me up I'll send him on down to St. Michael's. That is the most I can do."

The lieutenant outlined his plan, and as he went on, the trader nodded approval.

The young man gazed back at him so squarely, his eyes were so pleasant and friendly, his whole person breathed such straight up honesty and freshness that shame arose in the old man, and he had hard shift to keep his glance from wavering. Without forethought he answered impulsively:

"He's desperate and he's dangerous. I sold him a 45 just now." He was about to tell him where the man wore it and to add a word concerning his dexterity with the gun when the very fearless deliberation of the youth deterred him. On second thought Gale yielded to an impulse to wait and see how Burrell would act under fire. If the soldier emerged scatheless it would give him a line on his character. If he did not—well, that would be even better.

The crowd was coming back to the steamer, which had discharged her few bundles of freight, and there was no one inside the log post as they entered except Doret and the stranger, who had deposited his baggage at the rear and was talking with the Frenchman at the bar. At sight of the lieutenant he became silent and turned carefully, although with a distrustful stare. Burrell wasted no time.

"Are you going to locate here?" he began.

"Yes."

"I notice you go skeleton rigged," the soldier continued, indicating the man's baggage. "Pretty small outfit for a miner, isn't it?"

"It's plenty for me."

"Have you enough money to buy your season's grub?"

"I guess that's my business."

"My orders are to see that all newcomers either have an outfit or are able to buy one," said Burrell. "Those that are not equipped properly are to be sent down river to St. Michael's, where there is plenty of everything and where they will be taken care of by the government. Mr. Gale has only sufficient provisions to winter the men already in this district."

"I can take care of myself," said the man angrily, "whether I'm broke or not, and I don't want any of your interference." He shot a quick glance at Poleon Doret, but the Frenchman's face was like wood, and his hand still held the neck of the whisky bottle he had set out for the stranger.

"Come," said the officer peremptorily. "I have heard all about you, and you are not the kind of citizen we want here, but if you have enough money for an outfit I can send you away. If you haven't—"

"I'm broke," said the man, but at the note in his voice Poleon Doret's muscles tightened, and Burrell, who also read a sinister message in the tone, slid his heavy service revolver from its holster beneath his coat.

"Give me your gun," he said. "I'll unload it and give it back to you at the gangplank."

"All right; you've got the upper hand," said the man through lips that had gone white. Drawing his weapon from beneath his coat, he presented it to the officer, both foremost, hammer underneath. The cylinder reposed naturally in the palm of his hand, and the tip of his forefinger was thrust through the trigger guard.

Burrell lowered the barrel of his revolver and put out his left hand for the other's weapon. Suddenly the man's wrist jerked, the soldier saw a blue flicker of sunlight on the steel as it whirled, saw the arm of Poleon Doret fling itself across the bar with the speed of a striking serpent, heard a smash of breaking glass, felt the shock of a concussion and the spatter of some liquid in his face. Then he saw the man's revolver on the floor half-way across the room, saw fragments of glass with it and saw the fellow step backward, snatching at the fingers of his right hand. A smell of powder smoke and rank whisky was in the air.

There are times when a man's hand will act more swiftly than his tongue. Napoleon Doret had seen the manner of the stranger's surrender of his gun and, realizing what it meant, had acted.

The arm of Poleon Doret flung itself across the bar.

At the very instant of the fellow's trenchery Doret struck with his bottle just in time to knock the weapon from his hand, but not in time to prevent its discharge. The bullet was lodged in the wall a foot from where Gale stood. Aiming a sweeping downward blow with his Colt, Burrell clipped the Skagway man just above the ear, and he reeled. Then as he fell the officer struck wickedly again at his opponent's skull, but Doret seized him by the arm.

"Ha gar, don't kill 'im twice!" Burrell wrenched his arm free and turned on Doret a face that remained long in the Frenchman's memory, a face suffused with fury and convulsed like that of a sprinter at the finish of a race. The two men stared at each other over the fallen figure for a brief moment until the soldier gained mastery of himself and sheathed his weapon, when Poleon smiled.

"I spill a quart of good whiskey on you, Dore's worth five dollars."

The lieutenant wiped the liquor from his face.

"Quick work, Doret," he said. "I owe you one."

Gale's face was hidden as he bent over the prostrate man, fingering a long and ragged cut which laid the fellow's scalp open from back of the ear to the temple, but he mumbled something unrecognizable.

"Is he hurt badly?"

"No; you clipped him too low," said the trader. "I told you he was bad."

They revived the man, then bound up his injury hastily, and as the steamer cast off they led him to the bank and passed his gripsacks to a roustabout. He said no word as he walked unsteadily up the plank, but turned and stared malignantly at them from the deck. Then as the craft swung outward into the stream he grinned through the trickle of blood that stole down from beneath his wide hat and cried:

"I'd like to introduce myself, for I'm coming back to winter with you, Lieutenant! My name is Runnon!"

And until the steamer was hidden behind the bend below they saw him standing there gazing back at them fixedly.

As Burrell left the two men at the store he gave his hand frankly to the French Canadian and said, while his cheeks flushed:

"I want to thank you for saving me from my own awkwardness."

Doret became even more embarrassed than the lieutenant at this show of gratitude and granted chirlishly. But when the young man had gone he turned to Gale, who had watched them silently, and said:

"He's a nice young feller, ole man. Sapre! When he's mad his eye got so red lak my undershirt."

But the trader made no reply.

STOP SALE OF RIFLES.

War Department Has Issued Order Against Cheap Revolution.

Washington, April 17.—No more will cheap revolutions in neighboring countries be encouraged by the easy manner in which it has been possible to purchase the old arms of the United States. Orders have been issued at the war department stopping the selling of discarded arms of the United States. It has been reported at various times that revolutionists in Central and South America obtained arms from the United States.

It remained, however, for the police of Chicago to complain that the sale of the old Springfield rifles recently discarded was causing trouble for them. That complaint was followed by an order against the sale of the remaining 3,000 rifles by auction. These rifles may be sold to patriotic organizations only.

Southern School t. J. H. T. l.

Atlanta, Ga., April 16.—A movement to build up an educational scheme which shall embrace the entire south was launched at a prolonged session of the campaign managers of the south, now in annual session here. It was proposed that all states of the south be induced to take action towards a strong educational system which shall be as uniform as possible. The idea to be worked out was thus expressed by President P. P. Claxton, of the University of Tennessee.

"We should have," he said, "an architectural plan built up from all styles of education now in vogue in the south."

"We have been strengthening here and there for years with good results, until now is the time to construct a system more or less permanent for development."

ENGINEER

WILL RETURN TO MEMPHIS TO OPEN AN OFFICE.

Robert B. Richardson, Assistant to City Engineer, has Resigned.

Mr. Robert B. Richardson, assistant city engineer, has resigned his position, and will leave about May 15 for his home in Memphis, where he will locate. Mr. Richardson has purchased the business of the late James B. Couch, an engineer and architect of Memphis. The office has been established since 1857, and has a prestige among the builders.

Mr. Richardson removed to Paducah six years ago, when he accepted his present position, after working with some of the largest engineering firms throughout the south. As assistant city engineer he has charge of all the office work, and he has drawn plans for all of the street and sewer improvements made in the city since he has been in Paducah. He came to Paducah a few months after City Engineer Washington took charge of the office.

Mr. Richardson is a young man, but has had much experience in engineering. He has two brothers in Memphis, one of whom is county engineer of Shelby county, and the other is assistant.

No successor has been appointed, and until the board of public works makes a selection Mr. Richardson will continue in the department.

Unique Demonstration.

Foreman Bros. Electric Co., are making a unique demonstration at their salesrooms, 121-123 North Fourth street, of the most conspicuous feature of the Ford Automobile, showing the interior working of the Ford Low-Tension Magneto-Generator. It is built integral with motor, direct driven by engine shaft and forms a part of the fly-wheel.

There are no gears, belts, brushes or other moving parts to wear out and give trouble. This method has an immense advantage over the storage and dry batteries of the cheap cars and the magnetos with which the highest-priced cars are equipped. The Magneto-Generator is built, designed and patented by Mr. Henry Ford and is used only in Ford automobiles. On cars of every make you pay extra for the magneto; with this generator, this extra money is put into the value of the car. It furnishes sufficient power so that you can even light your entire car with electricity, thus doing away with the extra expense of acetylene generators and gas tanks and eliminating the annoyance which they cause.

Foreman Bros. will be very glad indeed to have an opportunity to show and explain this radical departure to everyone interested in automobiles.

Will Go to Germany.

Roy Judd and H. Carmack, two popular employees of the Illinois Central shops, left early this morning for New York, where they will sail next Thursday for Germany on a two months' tour. They expect to return some time in June.

CHIEF WILKIE

CAN TELL BY THE TONE WHERE A MAN COMES FROM.

Head of Government Secret Service Has Acute Senses to Detect Identity.

Washington, April 17.—"How near to Harrisburg, within a radius of 100 miles, were you brought up?" was the question put to a newspaper correspondent the other day by Chief Wilkie, of the secret service.

The correspondent burst into a laugh. "How the dickens did you know I had lived near Harrisburg?" he exclaimed. He was a new-comer. "Only by the infection of your question," replied Wilkie, referring to a conversation which the newspaper man had been conducting over the phone in the same room in which the chief formed one of a group.

Wilkie has been a close student of human nature, as well as a great traveler. He said that every one of the states, east of Ohio in particular, has "localisms" in language that enables the close observer pretty accurately to determine the community in which a man has been reared.

"The earlier years are those which make the most impression," he declared. "No matter what one's environment may have been in after life, it appears difficult for him to break away from habits, particularly in speech, unless a special effort is made to do so."

The chief related how, upon one occasion, he was traveling west in a Pullman and from time to time heard voices in different parts of the car. To the friend next to him he attempted to pick the communities in which the men had been reared. According to the analysis, one was from Chicago, another from Pittsburgh, a third from Philadelphia, a fourth from New York, a fifth from Boston, a sixth from Maine and a seventh from the south. The friend made careful note and later every man thus described confirmed the chief's diagnosis.

You can call a man names in the house of representatives, if you do it in the right way. The other day Representative Clark, of Florida, referred to a fellow Democrat, Representative Stanley, of Kentucky, as having no more gumption than the father of a mule—and he got away with it. But when, a little later, Clark in plain language called Stanley an ass, he was officially called down by the presiding officer.

Charley Taft, the president's young son, is just about as full of mischief as a properly constituted American boy should be. During one of the interesting days of the tariff debate in the house, he accompanied his mother to the executive gallery, and amused both himself and the rest of the audience by imitating the gestulations of the various orators on the floor.

Most of the members of President Taft's cabinet seem to prefer hotel life to the comforts of a private residence. Of the nine men who make up that important part of the presidential family, only three maintain homes in Washington. They are Secretaries Knox and Meyer, and Attorney-General called Stanley an ass, he less Wilson, MacVegh, Dickinson, Hitchcock, Ballinger and Nagel live in hotels.

"Which do you think is the best month for a wedding?" asked the Philadelphia woman.

"Well," replied the fair one from Chicago, "I always get married in June."—Philadelphia Record.

Famous Suits to Secure Titles.

The claim to the Sackville barony, which has excited so much interest recently, has many points in common with the sensational claim to the Earldom of Berkeley, which set every tongue in England wagging a century and more ago.

That the fifth Earl of Berkeley had taken to wife the pretty daughter of William Cole, a Gloucester butcher, who became the mother of seven stalwart sons, was beyond all dispute; but whether the marriage took place before the birth of the eldest son, or ten years later, was a very different matter, and round this point the battle waged fiercely. Of this earlier alleged marriage the only evidence was an entry on a slip of paper attached to a page of the Berkeley marriage register. The clerkman in whose handwriting the entry was said to be was dead; so, too, was one of the witnesses, while the signature of the second witness was in an assumed name.

A marriage thus supported failed to satisfy the House of Lords, who held that it was not proven, and the Earldom was awarded, not to the eldest son of the union, but to the fifth son, who was born after the later and properly authenticated wedding, and who, to his honor be it said, refused to assume a title which he declared belonged to his elder brother.

But all claims to peerages are not supported by even such slight evidence as a doubtful marriage entry. When a Mr. Cook cast covetous eyes on the Stafford barony in 1823 he did not trouble himself about such a small matter as making his claim good. Possession, he knew, was "nine points of the law," and, acting on this maxim, he installed himself in Stafford Castle during the owner's absence and refused to budge until he was turned out "neck and crop." Such a summary proceeding, however, did not disconcert him in the least. He made a neighboring inn his headquarters, served notices on the tenants bidding them pay their rents to him as their lord, and started a carriage which flaunted the Stafford arms in the face of the world; and when at last he found himself in the clutches of the law, charged with fraud and impersonation, he had the effrontery to claim his "privilege of peerage."

A less resolute man was the Birmingham tradesman who, some years ago, sought to wear a coronet as Earl of Sterling. He succeeded in raising $12,000 to prosecute his claim, giving as security bonds for $50,000 on the property which was soon to be in his clutches, when, as ill luck would have it, he was arrested on a charge of forgery. The claimant, however, seems to have been rather the dupe than the villain of the play, for he was acquitted.

There was a time when it seemed by no means impossible that the honors of the Percys would fall into the hands of a Dublin trunk maker; and if his title had been as sound as his perseverance was great, James Percy, the humble maker of trunks, would have succeeded to an earldom as a descendant of Hotspur. For fifteen years Percy waged his single-handed battle against all the forces that wealth and power could array against him. Chief Justice Hales declared, "I verily believe he hath as much right to the Earldom of Northumberland as I have to my own coach and horses;" and yet the pitiful end of it all was that the House of Lords branded him a "false and impudent pretender," and ordered him to appear before the courts of Westminster Hall with a paper bearing those words on his chest.

For thirteen years the Rev. Ed. T. Brydges, great-grandson of a Canterbury grocer, prosecuted his claim to the barony of Chandos; but, although his claim was supported by parish registers, monumental inscriptions, and, in fact, by the whole armory of evidence in such cases, the Lords, by 15 votes to 7, decided that he had not made out his claim.

For a century and a half a legal battle was waged over the title to the Earldom of Banbury, the claim to which had a romantic origin. William Knollys, first and last Earl, married his second wife when he had seen sixty years and she was but twenty; but he had reached eighty before his first son was cradled, and was four years older when a second son made his belated appearance. Scarcely had his lordship been five weeks under ground when his Countess found a successor to him in Lord Vaux, of Harrowden; and it was more than suspected that the children of Lord Banbury's old age were not entitled to call him father. The elder son and his successors assumed the title, but for a hundred and fifty years the House of Lords refused to acknowledge it.

More fortunate was Hans Francis Hastings, storekeeper to the garbion of Enniskillen, whose title to the Earldom of Huntingdon was discovered through a chance gossip with an old woman in a market cart; as also James Annesley, who, after a youth of terrible privation as a slave on a Pennsylvania plantation returned to England to find himself the rightful owner of large estates and of the Earldom of Annesley.—Tit-Bits.

FOREIGNERS BUY BIG PLANT.

Silk Dyeing Company at Paterson, N. J., Is Sold for $2,500,000.

New York, April 17.—The Weidmann Silk Dyeing company's plant at Paterson, N. J., one of the largest of its kind in the world, has been sold to a foreign syndicate. Although no official statement has been given out, it is known that the price paid was $2,500,000.

It is understood that the syndicate represents one hundred millions of capital. It operates large plants in France, Switzerland, Germany and Italy.

Among men connected with the silk trade the probable effect of the new deal on the National Silk Dyeing company, a merger of all the larger concerns in this country outside of the Weidmann company, is being discussed. The National is capitalized at $10,000,000.

LAWMAKERS FINED.

Texas Legislator Indicted as Keeper of Gambling House.

Galveston, Tex., April 17.—Thad T. Adams, representative in the legislature from Bexar county, has been indicted for permitting gambling on his premises, and ten other members of the lawmaking body, under fictitious names, pleaded guilty to charges of gaming and paid fines of from $10 to $25 each. Poker games for stakes reaching into the thousands are alleged to have been played in rooms occupied by legislators in the Driskill hotel at the capital. Several state officers and a number of the most prominent men in Texas have been summoned as witnesses. The penalty for permitting gambling in one's room or house is a term in the penitentiary.

AX FOR PALACES

FRONTS ON NEW YORK'S FIFTH AVENUE TO BE SMASHED.

Beautiful Lawns and Porches to Disappear From Many an Aristocratic Residence.

New York, April 17.—Palaces of the plutocrats and palaces of the laborer, houses of worship and houses devoted to the goddess of chance, world-famous hotels and private residences that look like them, must move back from the sidewalk on Fifth avenue by May 1 or a gang of axmen, backed up by a squad of police, will attack them.

This was the warning which went out from the corporation counsel's office. Fifth avenue must be widened, and the fact that a few score of marble-fronted palaces are in the way makes no difference.

Most of the property owners have heeded the warnings, and all along Fifth avenue the axmen are busy. A few, however, after fighting the matter through the courts and losing, are planning to resist the city's wreckers when they make their appearance, and lively times are looked for.

Vanderbilt Remodels Home.

Frederick W. Vanderbilt is having the front of his home, 459 Fifth avenue, remodeled to meet the new conditions and the work is nearly finished. The residence of R. T. Wilson, 511 Fifth avenue, has already been shorn of its front steps and the entrance has been set deeper into the body of the house. The improvements in both are artistic.

All along both sides of the avenue, between Thirty-third and Forty-seventh streets, many residences remodeled into business buildings retain stairways, and these must be removed. Sunken arcways must be filled and offices which occupy front basements will in several cases be considerably below the sidewalk level.

The Holland House will lose seven feet of the vault space under the sidewalk. Very costly and ornamental is the portico of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, which must be shorn from the main building. It is built of a great mixture of stones and colors and there is much expensive carved masonry about it.

Lawns Will Disappear.

Lawns will disappear from the Fifth avenue side of the Calumet club, the John Wendell residence and adjoining lots at Thirty-ninth street and from the extensive yards in front of the Marble Collegiate church and Temple Emanuel. From the front of the Brick Presbyterian church at Thirty-seventh street the heavy stone steps of the main entrance must be removed.

Loss of vault space will affect Sherry's and Delmonico's especially, as it will be necessary to close the openings near the buildings now used as ventilating shafts for rooms below Isaac V. Brokaw, owner of Sherry's, and the W. F. Havemeyer estate, owner of the Delmonico property, have not begun any changes on them.

FUGITIVE FROM ALTAR FOUND.

Elgin Youth Who Fleed on Eve of Wedding Writes He Is "Broke."

Tacoma, Wash., April 17.—Writing from Sacramento, where he is working for a $1 a day, Alvin R. Lehmann, the young Tacoma broker who who disappeared ten days ago on the eve of his marriage to Miss Bertha Christian, has been heard from by Dr. E. J. Moody, for whom he formerly worked. Lehmann says he is "broke" and asks for funds to get back. He makes no explanation of why he flitted the Seattle school teacher whom he was to wed. Indications are that he dared not marry without more funds.

The wedding party had assembled, the minister was there, and all waited for hours for Lehmann. Miss Christian has maintained all along that Lehmann was taken away against his will and wants him to return to her. He had previously pawned his watch and ring, later redeeming them.

Lehmann is scarcely of age. He came here last year from Elgin, Ill., where his father is foreman in the watch factory. At his father's request the Elgin chief of police is en route here to investigate the youth's disappearance. Until he was heard from yesterday the boy's father believed he had been abducted or murdered.

WOODEN LEG CONVICTS HIM.

Tracks in Mud Lead to Arrest and Prison Sentence.

Springfield, Mo., April 17.—Charles Duke was today sentenced by Judge Page in the criminal court to three years in prison for stealing $57 from a Christian county farmer. A wooden leg is responsible for Duke's downfall.

Three or four months ago he robbed a grocery. The police found him near the scene of the crime and he volunteered to aid the officers in searching for the culprit. The police discovered the man who entered the grocery had a wooden leg. Tracks of the "stump" in the mud near a window of the grocery led to Duke's arrest.

Spain has more bunchbacks than any other country.

The above property tax list for 1908 having been returned to the auditor as delinquent, will be offered for sale at the City Hall door on Monday, May 3, 1909, at 10 o'clock a. m., by the City Treasurer, unless paid to him before that date.

ALEX KIRKLAND,
City Auditor.
Paducah, Ky., April 15, 1909.

NOTICE.

I urgently request all persons indebted to me to make settlement before the first day of May, 1909, as I will after that date bring suit on every unpaid note and account due me. Now your account is to each of you a small matter, while the whole is to me very important. I shall deal with all alike; if you don't pay you may know that you will be sued, whatever your name or color may be. I hate to do this, but I am forced to it in self-defense. If you have not the money and will borrow it to pay me in full by the first day of March, 1909, I will deduct 10 per cent from your account, thereby paying the interest myself. Is this not as fair as any sane man can ask?

KISSES WRONG WOMAN; SORRY.

Misses Wife in Car and Acquires Black Eye as Result.

Minneapolis, April 17.—Harold McGraw kissed the wrong woman at the Union depot in St. Paul this morning. He was bidding good-bye to his wife, preparatory to taking train for Dakota. Just as he turned to embrace his wife the other woman got in the way and received the kiss instead. McGraw tried to dodge a blow aimed for his face by the woman's husband. Explanations followed, but Mr. McGraw has a black eye.

"I wish to employ a governess for my children."
"How did that last one we sent you suit; did she leave you?"
"No, she married me."—Houston Post.

The Badge of Honesty

Is on every wrapper of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery because a full list of ingredients composing it is printed there in plain English. More than forty years of experience has proven its superior worth as a blood-purifier and invigorating tonic for the cure of stomach disorders and all liver ills. It builds up the run-down system as no other tonic can in which alcohol is used. The active medicinal principles of native roots such as Golden Seal and Queen's root, Stone root and Mandrake root, Bloodroot and Black Cherrybark are extracted and preserved by the use of chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine.

Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce at Buffalo, N. Y., for free booklet which quotes extracts from well-recognized medical authorities such as Drs. Bartholow, King, Scudder, Coe, Ellingwood and a host of others, showing that these roots can be depended upon for their curative action in all weak states of the stomach, accompanied by indigestion or dyspepsia as well as in all bilious or liver complaints and in all "wasting diseases" where there is loss of flesh and gradual running down of the strength and system.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" makes rich, pure blood and so invigorates and regulates the stomach, liver and bowels, and through them, the whole system. Thus all skin affections, blotches, pimples and eruptions as well as scrofulous swellings and old open running sores or ulcers are cured and healed.

In treating old running sores, or ulcers, it is well to insure their healing to apply to them Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve. If your druggist don't happen to have this Salve in stock, send fifty cents in postage stamps to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., and a large box of the "All-Healing Salve" will reach you by return post.

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic, medicine of KNOWN COMPOSITION, not even though the urgent dealer may thereby make a little bigger profit. Though he offers the substitute for a less price you can't afford to experiment with your health. Go where they give you what you ask for without argument.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. Sugar-coated, tiny granules, easy to take as candy.
